My name is John Seymour and I am the National Sales Manager for Enhanced Living USA. Though, I have been involved with natural medicine (on many levels) in the USA, Canada, Mexico and Thailand for many years. My college education is in marketing and finance. I have an MBA, several small businesses and have had licenses in Securities, Real Estate, and as a Mortgage Lender (where I was once known as, Psycho John). I have been using the Enhanced Living detoxification system for 3-years, and I would like to tell you about the changes in my life.

First off, I look at least 10-years younger then I did 3-years ago, have more energy and no more joint pain. (I damaged my foot in college and have lived with severe pain for 25-years.) Even more amazing was the affect on my ADD (or ADHD), and my serious anxiety disorders (panic-attacks). I say serious because this is something I have dealt with my entire life, a long-term high-stress lifestyle that ends in the use of prescription medications to function. Otherwise, as in my case, I would overwork, be somewhat manic in my thinking processes, and eventually have a seizure due to the stress. I don't have seizures anymore and my thinking processes are more focused then ever in my life. I should also mention that I have a new son, Jesse, who was conceived 2-weeks after my first using the ionic footbath.

I was first introduced to Ionic Therapy through my close friend and mentor Dr. Jack Ritchason. I don't say this lightly either, on 2 occasions, Jack saved my life. In 2000, I had had a grand mal seizure, a really bad one, 2 ribs had sheared the right sides of 2 vertebrae and the ribs had come out. I was crippled and no one knew how to help. I had gone 9-months in this condition and Jack fixed me in one week, at his expense (he even put me up in one of his homes). He would not take my money. Over the course of 6-years I had a few more seizures due to overworking and Jack was always there to help me. The second time Jack saved me was by the introduction of the Ionic Cleansing Devise.

From the first use of the Ionic Therapy, I could feel a difference. One thing though, the unit I first used was too strong for me personally, I have an aneurysm clip in my brain, and I could feel it vibrating in my head. This was due the amperage setting. For clinical usage, there needed to be changes made. I studied the science, developed some sample units and brought the units to another friend, Dr. John Tolmosoff, who immediately put it to use in his clinic.

The results were astounding. Many of Dr John's clients noticed an almost immediate change to painful arthritis and gout conditions, and showed better range of motion with just a couple of uses. Within a few more uses, most showed significant changes to their energy level, and others had dramatic changes happening to their skin. Through the course of a treatment plan, many clients will rave about the anti-aging affects to their skin, and that many moles and liver spots shrank and some disappeared. A professional unit was developed and sold exclusively to medical practitioners. A unit with safety features, specific operating levels and treatment plans for clinical use. A product that anyone can use easily and always gets the same results.

In a nutshell, frequent use stimulates the detoxification processes (through cellular activation), forcing the body on a cellular level to move metals, toxins and acidic waste products from the inside of a positively charged cell, to outside the cell wall, as the inside converts to a negative charge. Your body becomes more alkaline and starts to function better. These toxins and acidic wastes are expelled through the normal way we rid our bodies of wastes, through hair, skin, urine and etc. You do not detoxify through your feet.

The water you drink today is also a variable to how you detoxify. Investigate the benefits of drinking purified alkaline water and for your health's sake, stay away from sodas, energy and sport drinks, because they are extremely acidic to your body.

If you buy an Enhanced Living product, chances are good I will be the one that works with you. I work with every practitioner. If you are looking for detoxification equipment for health reasons, be careful. Many products today are cheaply made OEM products, which may or may not work, and almost all come with no instruction. Even fewer ionic detoxification units offer the precise treatment control ratios (the display of volts and amps), as the Enhanced Living does. This display reading is needed to ensure that the water actually ionizes.

Sincerely,

John Seymour
